“The Monastery Cuisine” was born from the strict manacle uniting our Restaurant and the Certosian Monastery. In fact, the complex where the Restaurant La Certosa is located, in the past, was used by the Certosian Monks as a pharmacy, for the sale of medicine, syrup, ointments, beauty products, and it was like a “shop” where you could buy cheese, oil, liquor and other products made by the Monks during their life of hermitage.

The evening begins in the private small hall which has the view of the Certosian Monastery. The waiters will dress in the clothing of the Monks, “the habit”, and a musical group will be dressed in the traditional costume of the early 900's. Traditional music and famous opera songs will revive the taste and let us reminisce about once upon a time...
